RILEY & SONS COLLISION AND MECHANICAL SPECIALISTS WELCOME STEVE WELLS

March 1st 2019- New Castle-Henry County, Indiana

Tim Riley and Dave Driggers, owners of Riley and Sons, proudly announce the addition of Steve Wells as Production Manager at their New Castle location. Steve has come to us formally from Goodwin Brother's.

Steve Wells is no stranger to the automotive and mechanical industry having worked for Goodwin's for almost 35 years as the Body Shop Manager. Since his time in the automotive industry Steve has acquired many clients and friends. "I have always taken care of my customers, and as many of them know, they can call me at home just to ask for advice." Steve is looking forward to the new growth with Riley & Sons and wants everyone to know. "I'm still the same Steve and you have my number."

Steve welcomes the change and is looking forward to staying in the Henry County area. "I wanted to get to a place where my vision for customer service and doing the best job I can would be realized. I also wanted to work for a company that invests in the latest Collision repair technology. I also feel that I have a lot in common and share the same basic values as Riley & Sons, which is, the customer always comes first. I feel that Riley & Sons will be an excellent fit for me", says Steve.

Steve will be a part of the day to day production operations in our New Castle location as our Production Manager alongside Stacey Chesterman the Facility Manager.

Co-owner Dave Driggers-"Since 2015 Riley & Sons has grown and with that growth comes the need for additional staff. Steve's years' of experience will allow us to expand or production capacity and service offerings at our New Castle location. We look forward to the contribution that Steve will make for our employees and customer in the New Castle market."
